The Summer Playground Program
Get ready for a blast from the past as the Bloomfield Leisure Services Department resurrects a program from the 70’s & 80’s. The summer Playground program was an extremely popular program that was drop-in based at neighborhood parks. The Summer Playgrounds have a variety of different activities the neighborhood kids can participate in including Arts & Crafts, sports and some limited field trips. Each park will have three staff members working on site from 10 AM - 4 PM and will be designed for kids 10 and up. The big change in the program from when it was run in the 70’s & 80’s is that we are requiring children who participate to sign up for the program so we can have some health information along with parent contact information for emergency purposes. We are working with the schools to provide summer lunches at all sites. This will be confirmed at a later date. Children will have the right to come and go as they please and will be required to sign-in and sign-out, as this program is designed as a drop-in at any time. We have five different sites set up for this summer and they are listed below. This program will NOT meet during inclement weather.

Jukido Jujitsu

Jukido Jujitsu, is an authentic and traditional take on realistic self-defense. Taking old concepts from the era of samurai and changing them to fit modern times. From simple sleeve grabs to escape, to escalation of throws, take downs, holds, chokes and containment. Jukido helps you think outside the box to assess your options and situation to help defuse with words or taking action. Jukido is for everyone and anyone; children, adults, young and old. Jukido was created with the mind set “If it does not work for everyone, it is not in the system.” For more information you can contact the Sensei Philip Brennan at bloomfieldjukido@yahoo.com

Filley Park

Nature's Gift
Filley Park is a place that has sparked memories that span generations. It is a place for first dates and play dates. A place for fishing derbies and winter carnivals. A place to picnic or find peace among the trees.

A Park and a Community Unite
Throughout its history, Filley Park contributed to the community and the community, in turn, contributed to the park. In 1932, many citizens and town organizations donated trees and shrubs, including an oak tree donated by elementary students to honor George Washington. In 1933, with the assistance of a number of volunteers, the Town celebrated Connecticut's Tercentenary at the park. At a dedication ceremony in 1938, the Filley family was honored and the Village Improvement Association's 50th anniversary was observed. Filley Park has hosted Easter egg hunts, fishing lessons, nature walks, and many other gatherings large and small.

Ice skaters have flocked to Filley Pond whenever conditions allowed. The first of several winter carnivals was held in early 1959. The main event was to be an ice skating performance. As the date approached, the dam crumbled and the pond disappeared. The community came together to rebuild the dam and bring back the water, and the carnival went on as planned. This event attracted over 2,000 spectators from all over New England.

In 1910, Alfred Filley donated 6 1/2 acres of woodland to the Bloomfield Village Improvement Association. In 1930, Alfred Filley's nephew and niece donated an additional 3 acres of meadow, extending Filley Park across Wash Brook to Tunxis Avenue. The Association added to the park on six different occasions, bringing the park to its current size of 17 acres.

From Land to Parkland
Through the 1930s, the basic form of the park was created. Trees were cleared; the original dam was constructed; the pond dug behind the dam; and a new bridge was installed. Funding came primarily from federal work programs, with supplemental funding provided by the Town. In 1940, the western brook channel was dug, creating the island. In 1960, the Town took over maintenance of the park and assumed full ownership in 1978. From 1960 to 1980 the Town made additional improvements, including a new concrete dam, pond dredging and edging, bridge replacements, drainage, and the parking lot. The park persisted through many natural disasters. Three in particular, the 1916 chestnut tree blight, the 1928 hurricane and the Halloween ice storm of 2011, did significant damage to the park's trees.

In 2008, the process of reinvigorating Filley Park began. By 2011, with the help of the Filley Park Committee – a team of dedicated volunteers – a clear vision for the park's renovation was in place. In 2015, the streetscape phase of construction was completed. Stream and pond improvements were completed in 2019. Additional phases of the renovation will continue in the future. With the continued support of Town leaders, current and former residents, local businesses, student volunteers, and the Committee, Filley Park will continue to evolve as an enduring asset forever rooted in the Bloomfield community.

We hope you enjoy your visit to Filley Park and your walk along Scott Trail.

Legend

OVER THE HILL TRAIL TO BREWER DRIVE

SCOTT TRAIL

DESCRIPTION: Scott Trail is approximately one-half mile in length. It is rated "easy," as it gently loops through the woods on the west side of the park. It is accessible from the parking lot at the north end of the park via the foot bridge over Wash Brook. Along Scott Trail, which is blazed yellow, you may relax at the picnic area, then move on to the chimney area, look for a frog pond, wander around the back side of the park to admire the black oaks, red and sugar maples and white ash trees; then walk along the pond shoreline and stop to look at the giant rhododendrons.
LaSalette Park

The historical information on the ownership and use of the farm and of the existing farm buildings from the late 18th century, when portions of the property and buildings came into the ownership in 1793 of Oliver Filley (1757-1796), followed by his son Captain Oliver Filley, Watson Wilcox, Amasa Holcomb, the Pinney Family, the Missionaries, North Mountain View Associates, and ultimately into the current ownership of the Town of Bloomfield.

Rating: Easy
Distance: Long loop- Yellow to Pink to White – 2.6 miles
Access: Wintonbury Ave. to Seabury Drive to the Trailhead
Parking: Park at the trailhead

Location
The location, known as Reservoir #2, is State land, leased to the Town for passive recreation. The land was formerly the home of A.C. Peterson Dairy until the State acquired it for flood control purposes (remnants of farm equipment ‘put out to pasture’ can be seen occasionally from the trails). Reservoir #2 is also host to the Wintonbury Flying Club whose members can be seen nearly any day flying remote control model planes.

Distance
Yellow Trail – 1.1 miles
Blue Trail – .2 miles
Red Trail – .3 miles
Pink Trail – .5 miles
Dike (white) – 1.0 mile

Terrain
Easy slopes, mild elevation change

Features
Several small brooks pass through the area and are crossed by eight bridges noted on the map. The Trails pass through meadows, huge oak and hemlock forests and numerous strands of juvenile white pine. Seasonal wild flowers abound in the meadows and along the brooks. The Wildwoods Trails were developed and are maintained by residents of the Seabury Active Life Community. The trails, begun in 2006, are still a work-in-progress as one more bridge and boardwalk will be built, and more signage and benches will be added.
MK Wilcox Park

Welcome to Wilcox Park and some of the most interesting natural landscape in the Town of Bloomfield. Dedicated to Environmental Recreation the 212 acre park is the pride of the Town of Bloomfield’s park system. The park slopes and woodland offer a diversity of fauna and flora along with interesting geological features. A breathtaking vista of the Farmington Valley awaits you on the western ridge line. Stroll along the trails and visit with old hemlocks, Native American pipes, mountain laurel and other extraordinary natural specimens found in the park.

Trail Markings

Each trail has its own color blazed on trees for easy identification. All trails can be reached from the meadow area. The Renowned Metacomet Trail and our own Wintonbury Trail traverse the park and provide challenging hiking opportunities beyond the border of Wilcox Park.

Parking

The main parking area is conveniently located off Hoskins Road. The service road are reserved for emergency and staff vehicles.

Check out this Video Post Card of the Metacomet trail located in the Wilcox Park.
